A combination of childhood poverty, true love for humanity, positive vision and professional Kenya Police training techniques; has proudly shaped and empowered a Turkana young woman, Apostle Margaret Amana 38, to access the ladder of global fame with required courage and competence.

“Am physically fit and spiritually strong to serve God at whatever task assigned” explains Apostle Margaret recently.

Born on the 21st day of November 1976 to the family of Mr. Ekali Lochi (RIP) and Mrs. Pauline Ekali of Kainuk division, Turkana County. At age 12 Apostle Margaret Received a dream and / or instruction from the Lord that says “Margaret my daughter, wake up! I have chosen you to move around the world and disseminate my glory. Serve the world without fear, favour or discrimination” explains Margaret.

Additionally, “the Lord told me that a preacher would come to Kainuk Primary school and interpret the dream further. In about two weeks a preacher named ESBON came to the school and in the course of preaching he picked on me as a chosen girl by the Lord “explains Margaret.

Childhood Bitter Moments

Apostle Margaret joined Kainuk Primary school in 1982, but dropped out of school due to financial challenges. She accepted to work as a house girl in support of her two brothers who equally had issues with payment of fees. She later resumed studies and completed a Kenya certificate of secondary education (KCSE) in 1997 at Wei - Wei Secondary school in West Pokot. She also attended the East Africa Bible College.

MARGARET AND THE KENYA POLICE FORCE (NOW SERVICE)

Apostle Margaret joined the now Kenya Police service in 1997 after her application attracted positive response from the force.

“I applied and I was shortlisted for interview and training. I was interviewed by the Commissioner of Police called Mr. Wachira Duncan” narrates Margaret.

However, due to God's pressure on Margaret she retired from active service in May 2013.

“When God gave me this job or say opportunity I knew it was for a purpose” explains Margaret. Additionally Margaret says “the experience invested in me is a blessing to the church and communities around”.

Meanwhile she proudly says, “the Police service has developed in me that heart of perseverance and forgiveness. I value life of everybody”. She served in Rift Valley Province, Keiyo Division and in Eldoret Division.

Church Establishments

Apostle Margaret and the husband Mr. E Ekuam have invested about 1.2 million Kenyan shillings in church establishments which is steadily becoming the pride of Kenya despite sitting on a rented piece of land.

Positive Challenges.

- The church has few Pastors not able to meet requirements for Outreach programmes.
- No funding patterns to propel other resources under stagnation.
- High demand for church programmes in Africa and beyond.
- The church has logistical issues.
- The church has several programmes not limited to HIV/ AIDS counselling and guidance however; there are few counselors in these areas.
