We keenly observed that the National Resistance Movement (NRM) Party has confidently and steadily shaped the political activity of Uganda to become highly attractive, admirable and participatory. The parliament of Uganda has professional assortments of some highly educated and respectable Ugandans. It is the pride of every ugandan political personality to make a durable contribution towards the foundation of good politics authored by the pride-freeness attitude of Uganda's President H. E. Yoweri Kaguta Museveni in the interest of achieving Durable Peace Oneness, political stability and above all the now popular mindset of middle income status.
